The RED CROSS did not fail

Now the Red Cross asks you to join—surely YOU will not fail

Misfortune—disaster—lives lost and threatened—in these moments the great work of the Red Cross is keenly felt.

This very year the competence of the Red Cross is magnificently illustrated both at Santa Barbara, shaken by earthquake, and in the middle western states that were swept by a tornado.

Always the Red Cross is ready to help, to provide food, shelter, medical care, clothing. And in countless other ways, less dramatic perhaps, but vital for the welfare of human beings, the Red Cross renders its humane aid: Public Health Nursing, Nutrition Service, Life Saving Instruction, Service to Disabled Veterans—for every need the Red Cross is ready.

This great organization needs constant support. Now the time has come when you must give your support. Asks you to enroll—it costs you one dollar. Can you do anything but respond to the call?

He Tickets You Through E. H. Boynton, of Portland, formerly with the Grand Trunk in their Boston office, for many years, was a frequent at our office recently. He left us a copy of the Miami (Fla.) Herald as an object lesson in advertising.

Years ago, when he was our Waterville correspondent, we made a large per cent. net return on the investment than does the Herald.

We feel that we are still doing it, but the amount of business we are doing is only a fly speck compared with the Florida paper, yet we live to record the local happenings in this vicinity.

Mr. Boynton is the Portland manager of the International Mercantile Marine Co., and he can route you anywhere in the world you may want to go, at as low a rate as anyone. Also can save you money and inconvenience. He knows how.

WHERE THE WOODVINE TWINE

My dear Mr. Sanborn: In a recent issue of the Advertiser, a certain Mr.
Greenleaf was quoted as having discovered a new cure for colds, pneumonia, etc.
The formula consisting of a part carbonic acid and an equal portion of Scotch. Now, I know where I can get a very good brand of carbonic acid, will you or Mr. Greenleaf advise me where I can get the Scotch?

Yours very truly,

Take notice of those who have one hundred per cent. in spelling under the dent, and that is the way it should be.

Thanks to the teachers for co-operation, we appreciate the effort.

Norway Lodge, No. 16, I. O. O. F., Norway Grange Hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 18. Old and new dances will be offered and a good time is promised.

Timothy L. Heath's crew have removed a number of tall trees from Norway Pine Grove cemetery. This operation required great care and the generous use of pulleys and saw ropes to avoid damaging the monuments.

Steady rainfall, Sunday, thoroughly saturated the earth and filled most of the springs. The water situation for winter is said to be the best in many years.

ABOUT TOWN

Don C. Seitz and B. Frank Bradbury have been the closest and warmest of friends for half a century. They were born during Civil War time, the latter in 1861, and the former in 1862. They came together in Norway in their early teens, where their fathers before them had formed a very close friendship, which lasted through their lives. The boys saw in each other characteristics to admire—many qualities and noble aspirations and were naturally attracted to each other. As boys they were great favorites with everybody, and this regard for them has continued unabated with Norway people to this day. Both have achieved deserved success—Don as an author and newspaper man, and Frank as physician and surgeon. Norway people are proud of them.

Having to go, on Saturday evening, to the court house, as a bail commissioner, it was noted how finely the main streets, lawn and dwelling houses in the night were lighted. There were many colored lights and clusters of lights, making the whole way a panorama of pleasing effects. We saw a house living in a new age, and how fortunate some of us are to have lived to see it, and how wonderful it will be when the sky is full of air craft lighted with all the colors of the rainbow, at night.

I overlooked, last week, a deserving Miss, in the mention of the clerks in Fred Brown's store. It was Miss Dorothy Dowling of Pleasant Street. She has been employed there since she graduated from the high school. I have known her all her days, and no better young lady, or more tasteful one, especially in the matter of dress, lives among us.

Emma Dunham, wife of Melville, the now champion and famous fiddler, is a hunter. Both were once pupils in the school I taught many years ago, in their district. She is the only woman hunter I ever knew anything about. She was the youngest child of a great hunter—Calvin Richardson, and seems to be the only one of the family who had any liking for the chase. I do not know as she ever killed a bear, but every other species of game, I believe, has been brought down by her gun.

Calvin long since passed to the Land of the Blest. I never think of him without being reminded of a story he once told me. He said he had attended a meeting a short time before at a place where there were several different kinds of entertainment going on at the same time.
In one room a prayer meeting was being conducted; in another a quartette was playing "Old Sledge." In an adjoining shed two young men were having a "setto" with boxing gloves on, while in another part of the house, a fiddler was tuning away on the organ, with all his might, while several couples were "being it" to the tune of "Old Zip Coo." Melville might possibly have been an interested looker-on, getting an inspiration from the scene.

I passed a female on the street, one of these warm Indian summer days, last week, who was dressed so strikingly that I felt drawn. Don't think she lived here—at least I did not know her. She belonged to the class I have denominated "brown-stick girls"—tall, angular, sharp featured, sleeveless dress, reaching only just below the knees, while white stockings, very high heel boots and hat tipped on one side completed the outfit. Probably she thought she was in style. If Heaven save us from such styles as this.
The greatest excellence of the female character is modesty and good taste.

specimen for mounting. Deer heads from W. J. Barbin and Ernest Gagne of Berlin, N. H., are well pointed and look good. Walter "Ike" Waitte, the well known guide, is taxidermist for this work.

Bears seem to be plentiful and Mrs.
Nash has converted many pelts into mats with heads attached. Among the late arrivals is a sizeable brown shot by Dr.
Gard Twaddle of Lewiston and others belonging to E. F. Haines of West Paris, Ben. Haskell of Berlin, N. H., and Joseph Hart of Wadsworth Location. Bear paws are a popular mount and used for camp decorations.

Game birds are there by the score.
Owls, ducks, partridges and woodcock are conspicuous and Mrs. Nash works far in to the evening to keep up with the fortunate hunters, anxious to preserve their trophies.

Some less than a hundred big fishes from the spring vacation are in the tank and will soon appear on a whole mount, on the well known "mezzo" or the medallion mount as customers desire. Many others are in various stages of the work from stretching to the finished product.
A curiosity for meadow-brook fishermen is a salmon taken from the St. Johns river near Quebec. Its weight was 35 lbs., and as it is mounted, measures 45 inches in length. J. B. Pierce of Boston owns this beauty. One other, landed by Chas.
B. Leonard of New York City, measured 32 inches and tipped the scales on the 25 pound mark.

Mrs. Nash reports this the busiest season in years. Beside her duties as taxidermist, she is business and advertising manager, shipping clerk and office girl.
With customers from nearly every state needing attention, her clerical duties are of some importance and spare time is an unknown quantity in her daily routine.

Central Maine Power Co.
Hook-up With Bethel

High Tension Lines Extended From West Paris

About forty men are putting through a new 11,000 volt electric line from West Paris to Bethel, a distance of about fifteen miles. Work is expected to be completed by December, and will tie up Bethel Light Company with the interconnected system of Central Maine Power Company.

A construction crew started from West Paris in September, and poles are set over more than one-half the distance to the objective. Progress has been handicapped by hard digging and much lumbering. Ledges ad bog have been negotiated in a surprisingly short time, and hundreds of forty foot cedar poles mark the trail of progress.

Bethel village is served by a local company generating electricity in a mill.
Augmented by hydro-electric power, transmitted over Central Maine Power Company system, the local plant will provide twenty four hour per day service over a wider area.

Bryant's Pond, which has a community lighting system will not be in this hook-up. However, the rural districts through which the line extends will have long distance service for lights or power.

Locke's Mills and other sections in Greenwood, along the right of way, open a promising field and the citizens are happy over the advent of modern conveniences for the village home and farmhouse.

A PARTY FOR THE YOUNGSTER

What a gala time it for the child, when his mother has a party for him, or when he is invited to a party for his playmate.
In his mind it is a big affair, one never to be forgotten. Since this is the case, mothers should put themselves out a bit, and have a party for the children.

Many mothers find it rather hard to plan a party, which will be full of life and fun for the little ones present. Children love to play, and they are occasionally in new ones, so it is nice, if some new game can be introduced at each party.

The games which can be played depend somewhat upon the age of the children present. For the youngest children, the game of tag, or drop the handkerchief is always interesting. If it is a rainy day, the little ones can spend a happy hour, cutting out paper dolls, or having stories read to them. Sometimes, if the weather is warm, the little ones might enjoy a little walk to a brook or lake, where they could have simple refreshments, as milk and cookies, on their arrival there.

For the older children there is a variety of games and things to do. A few of the popular games are: Blind Man's Buff, peasant hunt, hunt the slipper, Going to Jerusalem, spin the plattens, tug of war, London Bridge is falling down, Potato race, Forfeits, I say, He and Seek, etc.

Children like to be doing something every minute, and they also like to do a variety of things, so it is wise for the older person, who is taking charge of the party, to keep introducing different games and not allow them to play one game all the afternoon.

Out of door parties are very nice enjoyable ones. They enable the children to have more freedom to play running games than indoor parties do. (They save mother a lot of work, too, for the house doesn't get disheveled.)

Picnics always appeal to children and adults as well. If a child's birthday comes in the summer, a birthday party can be given for him in the form of a hike or picnic. A hare and hound chase is lots of fun. The children are divided into two groups called the hares and the hounds, and the other group, the hounds, the hares start out from the starting place with a bag of colored paper, torn up into small pieces. As they go along, they drop the paper occasionally. About half hour after the hares have left, the hounds start out upon their trail. They do not know where the hares have gone, but they follow their trail by the bits of paper, which have been left by the hares.

Advance In Dentistry

The old fallacy that dentists are a fierce, cruel off-shoot of mankind, and that they delight in hurting the unfortunate who have to submit themselves to dental science, is apparently doomed to oblivion.

The international dental exhibition, just held in London, England, shows for all time that the modern dentist is a man who would not think of hurting a fly, and whose only aim is to put his patients out of pain in the speediest and safest way possible.

Hundreds of new gadgets were on show at the exhibition, and 99 per cent. of them have been invited with a view to alleviating that sense of terror generally felt when on a visit to the dentist.

Some of the world's greatest dental surgeons delivered addresses, and practically every one of them gave illustrations in one way or another that dental science is now occupied in perfecting instruments and drugs which will make dentistry absolutely painless.

Experts have perfected a new mixture of laughing gas and oxygen which takes away all sensation of pain, but leaves the patient absolutely conscious of all that is going on, with the result that he is perfectly normal mentally, but that a pin could be stuck into him and he would not feel it.

Tablets have been invented which are guaranteed to control all nervousness, fear and pain. The idea is that the intending patient swallows a tablet the night before the dreaded day, another on the fateful morning of the extraction, and he walks into the dentist's parlor as brave as a lion, leaping lightly into the chair and requesting the dentist to "Take your time, I am not in a hurry."

The exhibition also showed that the dentist of today is very much more than a molar puller. He has to know everything about X-ray, pyorrhea, electricity, ultra-violet rays, as well as have at his finger tips the knowledge of how to use anything between 50 to 100 different instruments.

On view at the exhibition was a massive X-ray machine, complete, with innumerable coils, knobs and mirrors, priced at $1,700. There was also an up-to-date violet ray lamp, which shoots rays into the mouth and kills all germs in three minutes. This lamp is said to obviate the necessity of having all the teeth extracted when pyorrhea is developed, for it is claimed that it will kill the pyorrhea germs almost immediately. This efficient cure for the dread modern disease of the mouth is heralded as a triumph for dentistry.

PAUL'S ARREST IN JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:18-23:22.
GOSPEL TEXT—"If any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed." PRINCIPAL TOPIC—Paul is Brave in Jerusalem.

IMMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—
Paul's Arrest in Jerusalem.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul is Brave in Jerusalem.

1. Paul's Vow (21:18-20).
Paul's arrival at Jerusalem representatives of the church there gave him a most cordial reception. In order that the brethren in Jerusalem might completely receive him, it was proposed to him by the elders that he take a Jewish vow to prove that he was in no way opposed to the law. The chief was to remove prejudice. They recognized that such an act would in no way compromise or involve the Gentile brethren. Furthermore, this would not compromise his principles of action, viz., to the Jews to become a Jew, and to the Gentiles to be Gentiles; all things to the glory of our Father who is in heaven.

2. Paul's Arrest (21:27-40).
The fact that this act conciliated the Jews was not told, but it only enraged the unbelieving Jews, causing them to resort to mob law. These malicious Jews on the basis of a supposedly sacred law and dragged him from the temple and beat him mercilessly, intending to put him to death.
Paul was rescued from the mob by the Roman guard. The chief captain, not wishing to get any information from the howling mob, bound Paul and started for the castle. In order to prevent him from the murderous fringing of the mob, the soldiers lifted him up on their shoulders and bore him up the steps. Paul kept himself under control and politely asked permission of the captain to speak to the people.
When he addressed him in Greek and quoted his Roman citizenship, the captain halted his request.

3. Paul's Defense (22:1-27).
Paul's chief concern was not his own safety. He used this opportunity to address them to them of Christ.

4. His Claim for a Rightful Hearing (22:28-30).
He was a Jew born in Tarsus, a city of great reputation.

5. His Education (v. 3).
He was educated under Gamaliel and instructed "according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers."

6. His Zeal (v. 3).
He was as zealous toward God as these Jews who were trying to destroy him.

7. His Attitude Toward Jesus (v.
4-6).
He persecuted this way unto the death, so that his attitude was one of hatred as was that of the Jews.

8. How His Attitude Was Changed
(v. 7-14).
While on his way to Damascus with authority to bind the Christians at Jerusalem, he was smitten to the ground by a light from heaven, and the voice of the Lord said, "Why persecutest thou me?" When Paul inquired what he was to do, he was told to go to Damascus where he would be told what to do.

9. The Lord Commissioned Him to Go to the Gentiles (17-21).
The Roman officer, in order to learn why Paul was arrested, commanded the chief council to assemble, and brought Paul before them.

10. Paul's Earnest Look at the Council (v. 12).
This was a solicitation of their favor to give him a fair hearing, and also a look of conscious integrity and unflinching courage.

11. Paul's Stern Rebuke of the Head of the Council (v. 13).
"God shall smite thee, thou whited wall."

12. Paul's Appeal to the Pharisees
(v. 14-16).
Seeing that he could not get a fair hearing, and perceiving that the body before him was made up of Pharisees and Sadducees, he appealed to the Pharisees hoping to get their attention, for his preaching had something in common with their belief.

13. The Lord Stood by Paul (v. 11).
This assured him that his course was right, and thus comfort was brought to him.

14. The Conspiracy to Kill Paul
(v. 18-22).
More than forty men placed themselves under a curse to abstain from eating and drinking until they had murdered him. God defeated their plan without a miracle.

15. Darkness
The darkness which is the result of the absence of the light which others ought to shed is bad enough; but how great is the darkness of disbelief and unbelief into which some will voluntarily plunge!—The Mennonite.

16. The Stream of Life
The stream of life for the broad-minded man flows steadily forward without rush and roar in ways of peace and good will.—Western Christian Advocate.

17. RUMFORD POINT
Mrs. Ellingwood is on the sick list.
Mrs. Kimball, of Portland, and daughter, were guests of Caroline Blauchard, recently.

18. Fred Tibbets and family were visitors over Sunday, Nov. 1, at relatives in Albany.

19. Mr. Temple and wife, of Aroostook County, are guests of their daughter, Mrs. Durego.

20. F. V. Cole has gone to Boston, by auto, after his wife.

21. Monday, Nov. 2, A. J. Marble bought a cow of O. A. Buck, of Bethel.

22. Father usually has to pay for the com-piments he receives.

HELPED THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during This Critical Time—
Benefited Greatly

Baltimore, Maryland.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help me through the Change of Life and for a broken-down system. I had been complaining a long time and dragging along had tried other medicines which did not help me much. I read in the newspapers of the Vegetable Compound and after taking a bottle I felt better. I did not stop with one bottle, but took it through the whole critical time and am now practically a well woman. I have two daughters whose health was very bad because they married and I was worried about them. I got the Vegetable Compound for them and it helped them and after they married it also helped them in bearing their babies. This is a great and good medicine for all complaints of women, and I recommend it to all."—Mrs. L. GINGRICH, 1375 N. Gil-mor St., Baltimore, Maryland.

The Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for women of middle age.
Let it relieve you of nervousness, that feeling of strain and those annoying hot flashes so common at this time.

"-AS COZY AS ONE CAN WISH"

Dear Sir:

With a Perfection Oil Heater in the house as a supplement, any corner may be made as comfortable and cozy as one can wish in a surprisingly short time.
It serves so many purposes. It makes a cozy corner for the invalid; heats an extra kettle of water for any purpose whatsoever; pops the corn for the party of young people, without a long wait for the kitchen fire and the discomfort of the extra heat in the house; sitting close by the dining table, it serves for the quick, hot toast, and you don't wait long either; it keeps the vegetables from freezing when the thermometer races many degrees below zero, and not the least of all, it keeps baby chicks as cozy as can be, when old mother hen has become a back number.

Very truly yours,

Mrs. EDWARD B. SPRAGUE

ALL THE NEWS, WITH HANDSOME VIEWS, YOU CAN PERUSE AS WELL AS SUSE

Edited by C. R. Mills, Who is Solely Responsible for Contents

Editorial

Our new policemen look quite neat in their shiny blue coats, and during the daytime they are very quiet and unobtrusive; but something should be done about the way they wink at our wives, sisters and sweethearts, after dark. This is a scandalous state of affairs and there should be some drastic measures taken to put a stop to it.

The Fliver office is a scene of bustling activity, these days, and if business increases with the same tremendous strides with which it has been going on for the past few weeks, we greatly fear that we will be unable to renew the lease, which H. C. Baxter & Co. hold. We should have to eject these tenants, as they live strictly up to their contracts, but business is business and we cannot be guided too much by sentiment in this matter, especially as the Baxter plant occupies a considerable amount of floor space which we can use to advantage.

Renew your subscription, which will cause us joy beyond description, and we will see that your inscription is promptly placed upon our files.

The Fryeburg Fliver is published semi-annually or oftener at the Fryeburg Bldg., Fryeburg, Me., and enjoys the distinction of having the largest circulation of any paper printed in this busy burg. It has no superior as an advertising medium, as W. R. Mansfield, the lobster king (king of lobsters) and Alvin Cream of Cream's Garage, will testify; and they should know, as the bulk of their vast fortunes was built by intelligent advertising in the columns of this noted sheet. If even good people, it was your last cent, it spent the Fliver it's money well spent. Editor—C. R. Mills. Publisher—Carlton Mills. Business Manager—Ginck Mills. Janitor—C. R. Mills.

Smith Street Smiles
Good work for Mabel Ridlon. Here's one girl who knows beans (when she sees 'em on a successful label).

Boner Ridlon is very attentive to visitors at this plant, especially to those from Fryeburg Tavern.

"Pirates" relieved the Fliver editor of part of his roll yesterday.
Elwin Rogers, who has been suffering with a sore hand, is adding to a new booming baby boy. Evidently Mrs. Rogers, knowing that her hubby was a cribbage enthusiast, thought that if Elwin had a "bad hand," the least she could do was to make it "five in the crib."

Chip Watt has gathered a good supply of acorns and has a treat in store for those who like their "bitters." George Chase is also gathering nuts—under the shaker.

Mack Watt has nailed down the job on the nailer. There's something brewing when he and Brewer get in gear.

To hear "Duke" Charles growl, while loading trucks at the Fliver Bldg., you might think that he was the guy who put "euss" in discuss.

EAST OTISFIELD

Carl E. Pease

The passing away of Carl E. Pease, age 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pease, was a great shock and sorrow to his many friends and relatives. Carl's health had not been the best in the past year, although he worked a greater part of the time. He was a graduate of the Oxford High School in June, 1924. Since then he has worked summers for Miss Mary North, at Camp Ocheo, a girls' camp, on the shore of Lake Thompson. He was assistant superintendent of the camp. The past winter he worked for a Wireless Specialty Company in Boston, and was unable to work indoors, came back to his camp work again the past summer. He was trustworthy and a willing worker and liked by all who employed him.

October 11 he was taken with acute tonsillitis, was very sick, but rallied for a few days and went to his work at the camp for three days. He was taken much worse with a temperature of 106, and was rushed to the great Eastern hospital in Auburn, where pus was removed from his face, but the infection spread throughout his whole body. Everything possible was done for him, but to no avail. His mother was with him during it all and did all possible for him; also his father and brother visited him. Many friends called to offer their services. When able to receive his presence, his talks with Wood were a great comfort to her. During his last conscious moments he spoke of seeing the angels and tried to voice a hymn and on Nov. 1st he passed to the great beyond. He leaves a father and mother, two brothers, grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

The funeral services were held at the Free Baptist Church, Tuesday, Nov. 2, at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. D. L. Joslin of Norway. A large company of relatives and friends were present. Also a large number of his schoolmates and friends from Oxford High School. Interment was in Elmwood Cemetery.

MAINE ATTRACTS NOTICE OF COUNTRY

Advertising Pays—Here Are Results Regarding Maine

Few people in the State appreciate how Maine has centered the eyes of the whole country on her activities during the past six months in the editorial and news columns of the press and magazines. The comments are on her Development program, her recreational, industrial and agricultural possibilities and the way Maine has moved to the front in showing the way to other States for similar development program.

Over ten thousand clippings have already been received at the office of the State of Maine Publicity Bureau in Portland from the press representing every State in the Union, giving uncontroverted proof of the above. In order to get the widest possible newspaper publicity, the Maine State of Maine Association, an organization of Maine business men, incorporated body, was formed early in the summer at the instigation of Governor, to unify, work with, and cooperate with the various State organizations, all of which have been working along similar lines, but separately as to National publicity.

The Maine Associates was created for no other purpose and has had the fullest participation from the various State organizations, all of which are supported by public spirited men working for the interests of the State as a whole, and for personal interests, outside of that which general State prosperity would bring them, the same as it will to every other citizen.

The headquarters of the Maine Associates has been and is at the State of Maine Publicity Bureau, 6 Longfellow Square, Portland, Me., of which Hiram W. Rickard, Esq., is president and Harrie B. Coe, executive secretary and manager, with an executive committee composed of business men who give of their time and money to keep the Bureau going and which is supported by public subscription. The Maine Associates has worked under the direction of this Committee with the full support and aid of Gov. Brewster and Council, the Maine Development Association, the State Chamber of Commerce and Agricultural League, the Associated Industries and other State organizations.

To get an accurate check of what progress was made in attracting outside public attention to the State of Maine, a national clipping Bureau was subscribed to under authorization of Gov. Brewster and Council.

The volume of these clippings is amazing and shows that the State of Maine is being heard by the people of the United States. The time for the citizens of the State to be wholehearted by getting behind the program and to also see to it that court services is rendered to out-lying areas, whether it be giving them a glass of water, if they are thirsty, or dealing fairly with them if they are buying over a pair of shoe strings. It is this way that attention can be called to our agricultural and industrial, as well as recreational opportunities and outside business interests attracted to Maine for investigation and investment.

A glance at the headlines of a few of the recently received clippings is very enlightening. Some of these are as follows:

From the Los Angeles Examiner: "The second page under a four column headline 'Progressive State of Maine Shows What To Do,' it starts off with the following: 'Are the people of Maine more progressive than those of Southern California? So it now appears.'"

From the New York Herald Tribune: "Maine gets noticed." "Columbus, South Carolina Record—'Maine and Florida.'"

New York Post—"Maine at the Front." "New Britain, Conn.—'Following Maine Doing Something.'"

Riverside Press, California—"This attitude of Maine in advertising ought to suggest to Western States that they cannot afford to let up."

Providence, R. I. Bulletin—"To bring Maine before the World."

Among numerous unsolicited publicity in current magazines are the following: "The Booster," published by Lawrence Automobile Association at Lawrence, Mass.—"Maine, the Land of Remembered Years," every month, a natural inducement to vacationing tourists. The article takes up six pages with illustrations.

"Motor Chat" published in New York City, "Maine offers splendid opportunities for all outdoor sports." Two pages of illustrations.

"Motor Chat" published in the Cincinnati Automobile Club—"Maine makes bid for summer tourists" with illustrations.

"The Employees Boston and Maine Magazine. Attractive article on Portland comment on Development Program."

The October issue of the Literary Digest—full page comment on Governor's project and remarks on Maine's activity.
